Chicagoland's voice for better biking, walking and transit

Keep the momentum going: Join the movement!

When you become a member, you're helping to improve your transportation options

Dear Eric,

As a supporter of our Riders for Better Transit campaign, you know that no one else is fighting to improve your train and bus ride like the Active Transportation Alliance. We'd like to ask you to do us a favor and show your support for our work by becoming a member today.

Since 1985, the Active Transportation Alliance has been at the forefront of the movement to make biking, walking and transit safe, fun and convenient for people throughout Chicagoland.

Thanks to our supporters, we made big strides in the past year.

- Our lobbying and advocacy efforts prompted the State of Illinois to keep track of data on "doorings" so that it will have information to act on when problem areas arise.
- Active Trans launched Riders for Better Transit, a campaign that works to expand and improve train and bus service in Chicagoland.
- Active transportation issues received a new level of attention during the Chicago mayoral election thanks to our Sustainable Transportation Platform. Following the election, the new administration largely adopted our recommendations, including a commitment to build 100 miles of protected bikeways.
- As part of the Communities Putting Prevention to Work initiative, Active Trans created 11 municipal active transportation plans, four regional bike plans, nine bike and pedestrian route signage networks, and travel plans for seven schools and four school districts.

Help keep the momentum going. Become a member today.

This year we hit a milestone when our membership reached 7,000 for the first time. Speed up the movement and join Active Trans today. We need you, but most importantly—the movement needs you.

Please join us.
